LOCAL NEWS.

SPELLING MATCH—There was a good attendance of those interested in getting up a spelling match for the benefit of the Library, the preliminary meeting held in the Mansion House parlors last evening. It was determined to have the match next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at Sarepta Hall. Hon. Lewis McKimie was selected to preside on the occasion, Richard L. Carne, esq., to act as Pedagogue, and Messrs. S. F. Beach, Geo. S. Blackburn and Jno. S. Beach as Referees. The list of gentlemen who will compete for the prize embraces the names of some thirty of our most prominent citizens, representing every occupation in life. The list will be published on Monday. In order that there may be no dissatisfaction, any one desiring to have his or her name placed on the list of contestants will hand the same to either of the following gentlemen: Messrs. Geo. R. Hill, Geo. E. French, R. M. Lawson, Henry Cook, S. H. Janney, R. C. Lee, Jno. J. Janney, Peter Wise, Geo. R. Shinn, K. Kemper, or Geo. Wise. The contest will be conducted in accordance with the rules that were adopted in the great spelling match at the Philadelphia Academy of Music, a notice of which appeared in the Gazette of Thursday last.

CITY SURVEYOR—The committee appointed to investigate charges of incompetency against Mr. J. N. Carter, City Surveyor, met again last night, and after hearing statements from Mr. Washington Blythe, Chief Engineer of Public Works, and Mr. C. C. Smoot, of the City Council Committee on Streets, concluded to adjourn the investigation sine die, and report to Council next Tuesday night. It is sufficient to say that Mr. Carter made a satisfactory explanation as to certain alleged errors in measurement, and that the whole difficulty seemed to arise from the fact that a line built upon three years ago was made in exact accordance with the east side of Washington street, but that since that time Columbus street has been made the standard, and that a building line in accordance with the new standard lately given, makes the old line encroach upon the sidewalk.

A SQUALL—A boy named Wm. Hemmersley, while bringing a row boat from the American Company's coal wharf to Fishtown, about noon to day, was caught by the squall, which occurred at that time, and losing one of his oars, also lost his presence of mind, and allowing his boat to be at the mercy of the wind and waves, was being carried down the river at a rapid rate, the water splashing over him fearfully, when Messrs. Jenkins, Sutton and Bonz, of Fishtown, jumped into another boat, and, with all their might and main, rowed after him and succeeded in rescuing him off Cameron street dock.

During the same squall two tug boats on their way to Georgetown, had to abandon their tows, the vessels saving themselves by coming to anchor at the forks of the channel.

POLICE REPORT—The following cases have been reported at police headquarters since yesterday afternoon:

Oscar Turner, colored, and George Lucas, for disorderly conduct at Fishtown and in the Market Square, were sent to the work house for 30 days, to work on the chain gang.

Charles Countee, colored, for stealing fire clay from the Gas House to peddle for stove mending, was sent to jail for 30 days, to work on the chain gang.

James Simms, for disorderly conduct, was sent to the work house for 30 days, to work on the chain gang.

Six lodgers were accommodated at the station house last night.

THE CHAIN GANG—It costs the Corporation fifty cents a day to feed each member of the chain gang. In addition to this charge considerable expense is incurred in clothing them. To avoid the latter it is suggested that a sufficient number of uniform suits be purchased, and that each member of the gang be required to don one as soon as he is joined to that command, and be made to wear it constantly during the whole term of his service, and to resume his own clothes when that time expires. In addition to the saving of expense, the adoption of the suggestion will tend to render the escapees from the gang less frequent than heretofore, and to make the recaptures more speedy and certain. The chain gangs of other cities all wear uniforms.

CANAL NEWS—The Cumberland Times of yesterday says: "The canal trade is picking up slowly, but steadily. Twenty boats left here yesterday against sixteen on Wednesday and twelve for two or three days previous. If some arrangement could now be effected whereby the American Company could ship by canal on an equality with other companies, we might be able to see the end of the dead-lock. Mr. Gorman will be in this city on Tuesday next. The wharf business will then be settled, and probably the disagreement as to the shipment of coal by canal yet existing between the boatmen and several of the coal companies, will be adjusted, and Col. Stake's confidence in a solution satisfactory to all concerned, causes us to hope that we are near the end of the trouble."

MR. HENDERSON'S WILL—As heretofore stated in the Gazette, at the last term of the County Court of Fairfax county, the last will and testament of Willis Henderson, deceased, was presented to the court by George Mason, one of the executors named in said will, and the same being proved by the oaths of J. T. Sherwood and G. Pat Berkley, subscribing witnesses thereto, was admitted to probate; whereupon the said George Mason, together with S. Chapman Neale, his security, entered into a bond in the penalty of $10,000, and J. Owen Kerby, Peyton Ballenger and Benjamin Barton were appointed appraisers of said Henderson's personal estate in Fairfax county, and John W. Burke, John W. Green and K. Kemper, in Alexandria.

COAL TRADE—The shipments of Cumberland coal from this port during the week ended to-day have been $40 tons by the American Coal Company and 450 tons by J. P. Agnew.

LOST MONEY RECOVERED—The schooner W. H. Brewster, which was capsized and sunk below Fort Washington last Saturday evening, but was raised yesterday, as stated in the Gazette of that date, has been towed to Washington for repairs. She had on board when she sunk some flour and two hundred dollars belonging to the fishermen by whom she was employed. The flour, of course, proves a total loss, but the money was recovered, and after being dried and smoothed with a hot flat iron, will be as good as ever.

THE WEATHER—The anticipations of good weather, engendered by the delightful change of yesterday were sadly and suddenly dispelled about noon to-day, when the sky became cloudy and the wind came out strong and cold from the northwest, bearing with it blinding clouds of dust, which were not allayed until about two hours afterwards, when a chilling rain began to fall. Winter is evidently holding on in hopes of achieving that poetical beatitude—lingering in the lap of May.

LARGE CATCH OF FISH—The largest catch of fish made at one haul of the seine this season was reported at Fishtown this morning. It was made yesterday at Preston Point, by Mr. Jacob Fauve, who caught 4,000 shad and 19,000 herring at one drag of the seine—a most profitable business at present quotations.

BASE BALL—The base ball season of 1875 was inaugurated this morning by a match game between the Resolute and Potomac clubs, the former winning by a score of 19 to 10.

Weather Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, April 24, 11 a. m.
 For the Middle States, partly cloudy weather during the day, followed by lower temperature northeast to northeast winds, continued low barometer, threatening weather, and areas of snow or rain.

As Spring is approaching, you will find more satisfaction in wearing the Warwick and Blumwood collars than any other.

They say business is dull; sugar and coffee are selling slowly. Not so with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; we understand our druggists can hardly supply the demand.

As a valuable remedy for Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Torpid Liver, and such like diseases, we can recommend Dr. Bull's Vegetable Pills. They are for sale by all druggists at 25 cents per box.

Alexandria, Va., April 24th, 1875.
 ALL PERSONS having claims against the estate of the late WILLIAM HENDERSON, of Fairfax county, are requested to present the same, properly authenticated before me for settlement. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to settle without delay.

NOW winter has lingered to daily with May, and to see how the flowers adorn her; Now her tresses and her fashions you'll see if you stray
 By the store of H. STRAUSS at the corner.

When she whispered the fancies that suited her mind,
 She begged me I'd ever remember
 That her feminine fondness most frankly inclined
 To the tricks that decked out her December.

With this glad inspiration I earnestly sought
 To prove my faith fervent and loyal;
 So the tip of the fashion I recently brought
 To the corner of King street and Royal.

And ah! the gay garments above and below
 That will strike on your enraptured vision;
 The Clothes, and the Shoes, and the Trunks I will show
 Will paint you a picture Elysian.

The New Orleans Fire.

NEW YORK, April 24—A special dispatch from New Orleans says in regard to the fire there yesterday: Albert Mynek, the watchman of the Bodman, who was saved with his captain, reports about twenty five or thirty women and children as lost upon that boat, and the same proportion were estimated by spectators to have been among the frantic crowd upon the Exporter's forecastle. About twenty of the rescued, among whom are several ladies, were provided for upon the steamboat Louisville. Some of the rescued are badly burned. It will be very difficult to ascertain the names of all the lost. Among them were spectators from the shore who went aboard the burning boats to assist in putting out the fire. Evidently they could return they found themselves out in the stream enveloped in flames. One case of heroism is reported. Two women who sprang overboard succeeded in grasping a rigbolt upon the hull of the Exporter, where, partly sheltered by the guards of the boat, they clung for about fifteen minutes in full view of all on shore. In the meanwhile three skiffs made repeated but ineffectual attempts to reach them, being each time driven back by the intense heat of the flames. Just as the hundreds of breathless spectators were upon the point of abandoning hope a long, lead colored skiff, with a single rower, approached and dashed to their aid. In a few minutes it emerged in safety, having succeeded in rescuing both from watery graves. This gallant act was rewarded with a spontaneous cheer from the crowd lining the river bank. The latest estimates reduce the loss to about fifty souls. The burning hull of the Exporter is now being towed down the river by a tugboat. It appears that all three boats were on the same fireboat when the levee, and that on endeavoring to cut the Kyle's moorings all three were unfortunately severed at the same time. The river makes a rapid eddy at that spot and they at once drifted out together, thus communicating the fire to each other. The tugboats Ella Wood, Nellie and Dome and another were in the immediate neighborhood. The two former, it is said, just both time and opportunity for saving life in a vain endeavor to extinguish the fires by throwing water upon the burning boats. An eye witness to the catastrophe, an old merchant, says he arrived on the levee just as the boats had drifted out. The forecasts of the Bodman and Exporter were then crowded with people who just at that moment seemed for the first time to realize their danger and became panic stricken. In a short time he said he saw over a hundred people struggling in the water. Some jumped over with their trunks; others with barrels and pieces of freight. The skiffs, of which some half dozen had been attracted to the spot, immediately dashed off and commenced rescuing these people. There was a lamentable want of order in managing the tugboats; otherwise, in his opinion, many more might have been saved. One of the boats had on board a quantity of oil, which floated in flames upon the surface of the water around the struggling victims, and thus added tenfold to the horrors of the scene. Many of the rescued are severely burned about the head, and no doubt it precipitated the drowning of many.

Information obtained later than the above says: Owing to the fact of the number of people running on board the boats at the first alarm of fire, it will be some time before the full extent of the casualties can be ascertained.

Tragedy.

NEW YORK, April 24—A dispatch from Cuba, New York, says: For some months past a young Irishman named James Lafferty, living in R. K.ville, Allegheny county, has tried to induce the daughter of a farmer named George Vannoy, living a few miles from Rockville, to marry him. He was formerly in the employ of the farmer. The young woman, a beautiful girl eighteen years of age, repeatedly repulsed him. On Wednesday afternoon he entered the sitting room where the young woman was at work. He renewed his proposal of marriage and was again refused. He then took a newspaper from his pocket and pointing to an article headed "Murdered for Love," told her to read it. She took the paper, and as she was looking at it Lafferty drew a revolver and leveling it at her fired. The ball entered the girl's cheek, passed through and lodged in the opposite side of her head. Her mother, alarmed at the report of the pistol, came running into the room. Lafferty immediately shot the mother, the ball entering near the right temple and passing downward lodged behind the ear. Lafferty ran from the house and placed the pistol to his own head and fired, two shots blowing the whole side of his head off and killing himself almost instantly. While Mr. Vannoy was preparing to go for the doctor, he saw that old Mr. Lafferty, his grandmother, had been found murdered in her house at Rockville. A sum of money it was known she had in the house was gone, and it was supposed that she had been killed by her grandson, who had been seen lurking around her house on Saturday. A physician extracted the ball from Mrs. Vannoy's wound but could not reach the one which had penetrated the daughter's head. Both are in a critical condition, but the doctor thinks they may recover. It appears that old Mrs. Lafferty was strangled to death.

Coal Famine.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—The extreme scarcity of coal in the northwestern section of this city makes the consideration of the existing troubles prevailing one of importance in many households. During the week stove coal has been retailed as high as $8.50 per ton, and then great difficulty found in obtaining it. The latest information from Pottsville indicates a determination of the miners to stand out. They persistently ask for a schedule of prices, and as they claim to be in possession of sufficient funds, the prospect for resumption is exceedingly unsatisfactory. The quantity sent from Schuylkill region last week was 18,245 tons, against 114,733 tons by railroad and canal for the corresponding week last year; decrease 96,488 tons. The quantity of anthracite sent for the week from all the regions was 273,974 and 65,922 bituminous; for the week 278,696 tons against 457,773 tons, for the corresponding week last year; decrease 170,677 tons. The supply sent from all regions, so far this year is 3,741,963 tons against 4,850,400 tons to same period last year; decrease 1,108,437 tons. The decrease in supply of anthracite is 1,217,515 tons.

Gen. John C. Breckenridge.

He has been confined to his room through the winter, and his friends have at times been anxious as to the result of his disease. No immediate serious consequences are feared, but the recent severe weather has had a very unfavorable effect on his already feeble constitution.
